Disclaimer: I am not affiliated with any of the groups mentioned and I bear no legal responsibility whatsoever for what you do with your money.

I have never solicited donations from readers of my blog or podcast listeners. I find it distasteful when other creators do it after every single video, right after they beg you to like, comment and subscribe. You know, as though your dumbass doesn't know to do those things already. I get it to some degree; many people make a living creating content and so asking for money is basically pay their bills. But mentioning it endlessly strikes me as off putting and desperate. Instead, I have simply setup for myself a donate page with my Subscribe Star and Patreon. It's there if you want to use it, if not, read and listen for free.

All that said, I have rarely plugged other causes that require money; and even less frequently have I told my readers to support a specific cause in one article or podcast. Many times I have support fellow dissidents with my kind words and I leave it to the reader to decide how far, if at all, they would like to go with supporting their work. But when it hits home, it is incumbent upon us to support our fellow brothers and sisters by blood. All Whites are genetic relatives, and we need to take care of each other. If I have not convinced long-time readers that no one else will, then nothing will.

In that spirit, and the spirit of Christmas, I invite everyone to donate whatever they can to a fellow dissident named Robert Rundo. His media outlet Will2Rise will be setting aside some of their donations to bring Christmas gifts to White Serbian children in Kosovo.

> Kosovo, the historic heartland of the Serbian people, was taken over by an Albanian criminal organization, the Kosovo Liberation Army (KLA), after intervention on their behalf by NATO and Washington in 1999. Native Serbs in the breakaway state are subjected to daily violence and discrimination, including organ theft and sexual slavery, at the hands of KLA commanders who are now top-ranking state officials. Kosovo is today Europe's main heroin trafficking transit point and a place crippled by high unemployment, deplorable rates of poverty and violent crime.

Usually when we hear of the American deep state's machinations, we think of the genocide in Yemen, the CIA starting coups in third world countries, or operations to take natural resources like oil. Mostly the victims are Muslims or non-Whites in non-White countries, so the pain is less personal. Our main grip should be that we are paying for something that enriches our very own anti-White oligarchs, money which should be spent to help suffering White Americans back home, who make too much to qualify for means-tested programs, but not enough to be secure; though the moral case is not lost in our favor. However, America does not simply have non-White blood on its hands, and this is an example of the reckless nature of the liberal empire.
